Amiga Specialty Acquires Exclusive Rights to Volante Professional Indemnity (PI) Renewals to Expand Liability Portfolio

[LONDON] – Amiga Specialty has successfully entered an exclusive agreement to acquire the professional indemnity (PI) renewal portfolio of Volante International Ltd. This transfer of rights provides security for all existing policyholders and placing brokers following the Lloyd's syndicate 1699 going into run-off earlier this year.

The transition of Volante's book of business boosts Amiga Specialty's capabilities in its expanding PI division and growing presence in the market. It enables Amiga to build on its present book and drive its ambitions across all financial lines business.

David Filtness, Managing Director, Amiga Specialty Professional Indemnity said: "We have carefully analysed the portfolio and are confident it is a well-run, well-managed book of quality Professional Indemnity (PI) business that fits our underwriting appetite.

"Acquiring the exclusive renewal rights allows us to support the brokers who placed the business and ensure they retain access to experienced underwriters, A-rated capacity and a specialist market with a clear appetite to grow. Our priority is to deliver a smooth transition and provide brokers and policyholders with continuity, certainty and high-quality service."

Adam Kembroke CEO of Amiga Specialty added: "In securing this exclusive agreement with Volante we can continue our mission to provide exceptional levels of service to all policyholders and brokers.

"This is a clear demonstration of our commitment to significantly grow and utilise our A-rated capacity offering limits up to £10m and offering competitive rates to both clients and brokers."
